ROOSEVELT NOT CANDIDATE FOR A THIRD TERM

ALL DOUBT ON THIS POINT DISPELLED BY AUTHORITATIVE STATEMENT.

HAS NOT CHANGED HIS MIND

PRESIDENT REITERATES DECLARATION MADE ON NIGHT OF LAST ELECTION.

HIS POSITION UNMISTAKABLE

Official Announcement From White House Is Received by Political Leaders With Great Interest, but Hardly With Surprise. Wise Ones Talk.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—President Roosevelt will not be a candidate for a third term. All doubt on this point was tonight dispelled by the authoritative statement from the White House that Mr. Roosevelt adheres to the declaration of renunciation made on the night of the election three years ago. In the statement issued tonight, President Roosevelt says he has not change and shall not change the decision delivered to the American people in 1904.

It was expected President Roosevelt would issue a statement calling the call for the Republican national convention, to afford the people opportunity for making his position clear and unmistakable, thus leaving the field clear for Fairbanks, Taft, Cannon, Knox, Foraker and other declared or prospective candidates for the Republican nomination. The President's statement follows:

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Reiterates Former Statement.

"On the night after election I made the following announcement:

"I am deeply sensible to the honor done me by the American people in thus expressing their confidence in what I have done and have tried to do. I appreciate to the fullest the solemn responsibility this confidence imposes upon me and I shall do all that in my power lies not to forfeit it. On the fourth of March next I shall have served three and a half years, and this three and a half years constitute my first term. The wise customs which limit the President to two terms regards the substance and not the form, and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept a third term.

"[illegible] I shall not [illegible] have any need."

[illegible] the President would not [illegible] nomination, if [illegible] at too late an hour [illegible] those who fear [illegible] Democrats and Republicans alike, they [illegible] that [illegible] doubt in the presidential [illegible] to for as states to the third [illegible] and that it definitely [illegible] Mr. Roosevelt from the contest [illegible] some Democrats believe [illegible] belief that a [illegible] made in the convention would [illegible] tion and that he would prove no exception to the [illegible] that no American citizen [illegible] a presidential nomination.

Impatient to Talk Bryan.

Administration [illegible] Democrats, many of the leaders of which party are here to attend the meeting of their national committee tomorrow, are shouting that it means "Bryan in a walk."

Speaker Cannon, when shown the President's statement, said:

"The President speaks for himself. It would be useless and inappropriate for me to attempt to interpret the President's words."

Senator Foraker, the only other declared candidate, who could be seen tonight, said: "That has been his position all the while, I suppose, but I don't care to discuss the matter, thank you."

Senator La Follette said: "While such an announcement could be expected, it was not expected to come so soon. I have no other comment to make at this time."

Senator Hansbrough said: "There is no question at all about the President's sincerity at this time and before. If conditions should demand his nomination, the convention would nominate him, and I do not see how it would be possible for him to decline, however earnest he might be."

Senator Long of Kansas: "The Taft boom will be the only one worth considering after this announcement."

Senator Dick of Ohio: "Nothing else was to be expected."

STORY IS RETOLD

ORCHARD IS STATE'S WITNESS IN PETTIBONE TRIAL.

GIVES IMPORTANT TESTIMONY

Central Figure in Trial of Haywood Recites Practically Same Story of Crime and Heartlessness in Testifying Against Second Official.

BOISE, Ida., Dec. 11.—For four hours today, in the trial of George Pettibone for the murder of former Governor Steunenberg, Harry Orchard was on the witness stand and when court adjourned this afternoon his story was only half told. Under the guidance of James H. Hawley, chief counsel for the prosecution, Orchard told of the blowing up of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mine in the Coeur d'Alenes, the killings of Charles Beard[illegible] and Mel Beck in the Vindicator mine in the Cripple Creek district of Colorado; the murder of Lyle Gregory in Denver, the blowing up of the Independence depot and the attempts made on the life of Governor Peabody of Colorado.

In the main, the testimony was the same as given at the Haywood trial, but the questions emphasized Pettibone's alleged conspiracy. An entirely new feature of the evidence was the statement by Orchard that Pettibone had told him in 1904 that he purchased 100 cans from a hardware company in Denver and shipped them to the Coeur d'Alenes for use in the riots of 1899. The witness said Pettibone told him he had $1,500 of Western Federation money for the titles.

Important Testimony.

A portion of the testimony, which the state regards as important, was the statement that Pettibone visited Orchard's house at Cripple Creek and showed him how to use "Pettibone dope." It is claimed by the prosecution that corroborative will be introduced on these points.

The early life of Orchard in Canada was touched only briefly. The witness stated his true name as Alfred E. Horsley, and his age as 49 years. As he testified Pettibone and Moyer watched him closely but he merely glanced in their direction.

He told of driving a milk wagon in the Coeur d'Alenes, of being in the wood business, and of finally going to work in the mines and joining the union. In a very precise manner he narrated the events leading up to the tragedy of April 29, 1899, when the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mill was blown up by the members of the Miners' union at Burke, Gem and Wallace.

Pettibone's name was brought into the testimony for the first time when Orchard said that the defendant told him in 1904 that the guns used in the 1899 riot were shipped by him in piano boxes from Denver.

Touched Off Dynamite.

Orchard said he was one of the 1,200 men who took possession of a train and went to Wardner, and that he touched off one of the boxes of dynamite which blew the mill to pieces. He then told of the capture of Wardner and the exodus of miners from the district, the return to Butte, thence to Utah where he remained until 1902 when he went to Cripple Creek, took up mining again and joined the Free Coinage union.

When the strike was called August 19, 1903, he walked out with the rest and said he engaged in "high grading" at the Vindicator mine. Orchard then testified that W. F. Davis, a member of the strike committee, asked him to blow up the mills while non-union men were at work in it, and he consented to do so.

Not Molestation's Finders.

At the Vindicator mine, Orchard began by blowing up his first visit to Denver in [illegible] when he went there to [illegible] headquarters and [illegible] Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone. He said Haywood told him he had [illegible] job at the Vindicator [illegible] Orchard [illegible] Haywood [illegible] Pettibone [illegible] Orchard said [illegible] Haywood [illegible] Pettibone [illegible] Orchard [illegible] Haywood [illegible] Pettibone [illegible] Orchard [illegible] Haywood [illegible] Pettibone [illegible] Orchard

GIANT MILLS THREATEN WAR

The three blows in the last half of the full report, and that this fact will precipitate a rate war between the two companies seems to be the only logical short view.

Since the end of the fiscal year the company brought the old Leadville mill and entered the field rates have been lowered by both companies. The Golden Circle (Colo) plant reported a reduction October 1 last. The United States Reduction and Refining company also announced a reduction in the treatment of ore. It was believed at the time that the reduction was made to meet the prices of the Golden Circle company. It is now seen that before the latter company could be ready to begin operations.

At present the rates of the two companies do not vary radically, with the exception that the Golden Circle charges less for the treatment of low grade ores, while the United States company takes a higher grade ore at a less money than its competitor.

Hawkins Makes Statement

In an interview last night T. D. Hawkins, president and general manager of the United States Reduction and Refining company and also chairman of its board of directors, said:

I do not anticipate any great reduction in the treatment charges, although we are ready to meet any and all conditions that may arise. A short time ago we made an arrangement with one which is still in effect and to which all our customers may take advantage if they desire, whether they have contracts with us or not.

As for the Golden Circle mill its capacity has been greatly overestimated. I doubt whether it is more than 200 tons a day at the present time and when it is completed it will not have the capacity that it claims for it.

Milliken Not Alarmed

President Milliken of the Colorado Mining and Milling company did not see in the circular issued by the company any cause for alarm. "We are not looking for any reduction of rates," he said. "The Golden Circle mill already has contracts that will keep it running at its full capacity as soon as we are able to reach that. If the United States company wishes to cut rates on business that it would get anyway, that is its own business. We do not intend to make any reductions out of spite. We work by cutting rates on ore which we cannot handle in order to force our competitors to meet this rate.

In only one particular has there been any reduction as far as we are concerned. The rate in the city lowest grade ore has been in fact the Golden Circle company makes no attempt to handle the lowest grade ore. [illegible] lead pigment and as explained in the circular the warehouses of the company are particularly the lessees who may realize a little off this ore which otherwise would be a dead loss.

The mill is in excellent shape. We have blown in four roasters giving us a capacity of 450 tons a day. The new machinery is working even better than we had expected and we are thoroughly satisfied with the tests that we have made. We think the mill is one of the best that is possible to construct of its kind.

The circular sent to the United States Reduction company stockholders and which is intended to explain the company position is signed by President Hawkins and reads as follows:

Letter to Stockholders

To Stockholders of the United States Reduction and Refining Company:

Your executive committee has determined that it is not advisable at this time to pay the quarterly dividend on the preferred stock which would be due on the twelfth January. We feel confident that the stockholders will approve this decision when they realize the situation and the reasons for it.

The mill has been in operation for a number of months, but because of the high cost of production and the unsatisfactory condition of the market for lead pigment we have been compelled to suspend operations. We have reduced the charges for treatment of ores, but the competitive mill will soon be rebuilt and ready to again enter the market for ores and our management has declared for the purpose of putting the rates for treatment it becomes necessary to maintain your company in a position to meet such competition and still further reduce the treatment charges if necessary to maintain its position. Your directors have the fullest confidence in the ultimate outcome of the situation and believe that the results will be the same as in the case of numerous other similar undertakings, all of which have been successful.

Smelting Plant Closed

The business of the United States Smelting company owned and operated by your company has been affected by prevailing industrial conditions. Its product, zinc lead pigment, was fully contracted for but its customers have found it impossible under present conditions to take and pay for the pigment ordered and the company therefore finds itself with a very large stock of finished product ready for market upon which it can not realize for the reason that it is also carrying a large stock of ores and supplies. Owing to the large amount of money required to carry this stock under existing market conditions the plant has been closed temporarily and until its stock of finished product can be disposed of. It is expected that this will be accomplished by February 1, 1908, or soon thereafter, but in the meantime and until conditions change our company must pursue the only course dictated by conservative judgment which is to maintain itself in a strong financial position.

Your committee does not think to state that all things considered the outlook is encouraging for an early resumption of dividends.

Very respectfully,

J. D. HAWKINS,

President and Chairman of Executive Committee.

The plant referred to in the circular as being closed is at Canon City and this is no effect upon the Colorado City mills which will continue at their present capacity. This mill produces zinc lead pigment and as explained in the circular the warehouses of the company are [illegible]

Babcock Says Indian Affairs Committee Stations in Its Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The subcommittee of the senate committee on Indian affairs consisting of Senators Curtis and LaFollette which investigated the alleged fraudulent purchases of Kickapoo Indian lands located in Oklahoma, held a meeting today and practically agreed upon the report that would be submitted to the Senate. The report will disclose a rather startling series of alleged shady transactions that went on along the Mexican border where a number of the Kickapoos were living when the law was passed allowing them to dispose of their lands in Oklahoma and where some of them were taken by white men.

The subcommittee went to Eagle Pass, Texas, in November and examined a large number of Indian and white witnesses. The report will show that facts were developed which proved conclusively that certain parties of men had formed partnerships and raised capital with the express view of cheating the Indians out of their lands. In this connection the report will mention certain names and charge that there were through fraudulent practices, obtained at an expenditure of not over $1,000 lands aggregating in value $250,000. Some of the men named the report will say were not actively at work among the Indians but they were found to have furnished funds for the alleged corrupt dealings. The committee also found evidence of corrupt Mexican officials and bankers in that region. It also found that names of Indians had been forged to a large number of deeds and checks.

SENATORS ARE CHOSEN

R. L. OWEN AND T. P. GORE HAVE BIG MAJORITIES.

Are Selected by Oklahoma Legislature to Represent New State in Upper House

GUTHRIE, Okla., Dec. 11.—The election of the first two United States senators from the new state of Oklahoma was consummated late this afternoon when the two houses in joint session in the hall of representatives with Speaker W. H. Murray announcing the vote of each day, Richard Robert Owen of Washington and Thomas P. Gore of Lawton duly chosen. The vote on the joint ballot was: Owen and Gore, 97; Jones and Flaming, 18; Douglas, three. The announcement was received with an enthusiastic demonstration.

The election was delayed for a day by the attitude of the senate in reconsidering the rule which provides that the speaker of the house shall preside over all joint sessions.

The senate last night notified the house of its president, George W. Bellamy, for that of the house speaker. The news was conveyed to the house while it was in waiting and the lower branch refused to concur.

The result of the hitch was that adjournment was taken until 4:30, when it was expected the house would concur. A compromise was effected, however, and the senate met with the house.

The galleries of the hall were packed. Both Senators Owen and Gore made speeches of acceptance.

FLEET COMPLETED

Monroe and let go her anchor in the Roadstead opposite the Connecticut. Coal barges immediately were towed alongside and the fuel burned on the trip from Sandy Hook had soon been replaced.

The last supplies of food and ammunition were being placed aboard the ships today and the Roadstead was filled with craft of every description. For a morning steamer of commerce from New York, Baltimore and Washington brings freight for the fleet and the immense government pier is a scene of greatest activity. Local merchants of this vicinity also have their hands full in carrying out contracts for supplies. Most of the fresh vegetables and fruit have been put aboard since the vessels arrived here.

Chocolates for Bluejackets

One of the most interesting items in the list of accumulating supplies is an evidence of the sweet tooth of the sailor man. Great boxes of taffy and other candies were piled upon the dock today consigned to various ships. They are to be placed in what the sailors call the "denatured" canteen. It is a tribute to the thoughtful solicitude of the government for the wants of the men that on one of the supply vessels 1,000 pounds of high grade chocolate bonbons have been stored. This is to be drawn upon in case the canteen candies on board are exhausted before the cruise ends.

That the ships are ready to set sail and that all the more serious work of preparation has been accomplished is shown by the shore liberty given the sailors each afternoon, when football games between teams from the various ships and some games with the artillerymen at the post are played. The Kansas team defeated the Kentucky eleven and the Vermont team beat the Alabama after the liveliest of struggles. Several hundred bluejackets from the contesting ships were ashore and headed by their bands marched from the dock to the fort. The contests were surrounded by all the feature of college games. Ships' crews have their individual flags and yells and they go into the sport with all the exuberance of undergraduates. A ball at the Chamberlain was one of the first social features planned for naval farewell.

tonight that President Roosevelt would adhere to his earlier determination not to accept a renomination, was received with interest but hardly with surprise by party leaders here. The President generally has been taken at his word and those in whose political judgment most confidence is felt have anticipated this statement.

Out of the Running

While it was pointed out that the argument that the President might by sheer force of circumstances be compelled to accept a third term nomination against his will was as potent as ever, the consensus of opinion among those seen was that Mr. Roosevelt's clear-cut and decisive language had taken him out of the situation. The suggestion that Mr. Roosevelt could consistently accept a second elective term was disposed of, it was thought, by the President's own words.

It was generally agreed that the elimination of Mr. Roosevelt's name brought out Governor Hughes as New York's candidate sharply to the front.

Governor Hughes never has permitted others to speak for him but Senator Alfred R. Page is probably as close to the governor as anyone is allowed to get. When here last Saturday Senator Page said:

Without exception the friends of Governor Hughes are convinced that under no circumstances will he accept a renomination for governor. He has made sacrifices enough will have impelled the work he was chosen to do. The same question, however, which would make him again less available as a governor would make him desirable in the office of President.

Bryan Is Not Surprised

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 11.—When told tonight that President Roosevelt had made positive declaration that he would not be a candidate for a third term, W. J. Bryan expressed no surprise. He said the position of the President was as he expected, Mr. Bryan said.

I have assumed from the beginning that President Roosevelt would not be a candidate. The statement he issued the night of the election left no room for misunderstanding, and I have felt that his friends were doing him an injustice in suggesting that he would change his position on the subject.

STORY IS RETOLD

to Cripple Creek, he said, he met with Orchard, Moyer's friend, making bombs for the purpose of blowing up the coal buckets at the Vindicator mine of Cripple Creek, the union workmen. He soon returned to Denver as a delegate to the convention of the state federation of labor and again saw Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone and talked over Cripple Creek matters with them. He met Pettibone at this time. He said Moyer introduced him, telling him that Pettibone was all right.

Pettibone took me to his store and Orchard and told me about setting off giant caps with acid and a peculiar burning substance showing me how to compound the mixture. I took some home with me. Pettibone told me he would come to Cripple Creek and show me how to use it. He came to my house soon after under the name of Morgan and mixed up some Pettibone dope. Easterly said he already had some mixed in his cellar and we went over to see it. Pettibone told me Steve Adams knew how to mix it and Easterly and I went over to [illegible] about it.

Tried to Kill Peabody

Orchard said that the stuff brought by Pettibone was buried and that he had described the place after his arrest and it had been dug up. The witness told of his third visit to Denver and of accompanying Moyer to Montrose as his body guard. During his trip Moyer was arrested and Orchard returned alone. In April Orchard said Haywood told him he wanted him to bump off Governor Peabody and he went to Cripple Creek to get Steve Adams to help him do the job. He then related how they laid for Peabody with sawed-off shot guns furnished by Pettibone but failed and then made a bomb but did not use it because the executive board was in session and it was feared the federation might be held responsible.

Attention was then turned to Lyte [illegible] Orchard testifying that Pettibone and Steve Adams came to him and told him the executive board had decided that he ought to be put out of the way. All three, he said, planned to get Gregory but only he and Adams were present when the shooting occurred. The next day, he said the shooting was talked over in the presence of Haywood with Pettibone and Simpkins and Haywood told him they had nothing to fear as Sheriff Armstrong had assured him he thought a good job had been done.

MISSISSIPPI RIOT STORY FALSE

Trouble With Negroes Reported to Have Occurred in Pickens County Denied

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 11.—A telegraphic request to Editor W. J. Peters of the Gordo Messenger for an accurate account of the alleged riots in Pickens county, brings the Advertiser the following reply tonight:

"There has not been a riot in this county. Two negroes were arrested at Lewistown two miles from Gordo for interfering with an officer. Negroes fired on the officer and killed his negro prisoner. The officer, Constable R. V. Lowe, was slightly wounded. Everything is quiet. There has been little excitement."

The correspondent of the Advertiser at Columbus, Miss., L. B. Kirkseys, a reliable newspaper woman, sends substantially the same statement of the Pickens county trouble as Mr. Peters and adds:

This is the true story of the riots, all contrary accounts are untrue.

TUNNEL COMPANY TO MEET

Directors May Decide to Drive Deep Bore Themselves—Work to Be Finished.

Directors of the Cripple Creek Deep Drainage Tunnel company will meet in the offices of the El Paso company in Colorado Springs Saturday afternoon to decide upon the future construction of the tunnel. This meeting was called yesterday after a conference of members of the executive committee, E. T. Eastman, Stockwell Mackey and F. G. Peck.

If the other two pipes are placed, the United company will take direct charge of the work itself and will drive the bore under its own supervision.

It is important that the work continue without any interruption, said E. F. Carlisle yesterday. "The tunnel will be completed on that point all of the directors are agreed. What action will be taken cannot be forecast until after the directors' meeting Saturday."

Official notification of the action of the El Paso Consolidated company was served on the members of the executive committee of the tunnel company yesterday, and after a canvass, it was decided to take no action except to call the meeting of the directors for Saturday afternoon. At this time the question will be threshed out in all its details.

JOHN BAILEY MEETS DEATH

Former Colorado "Bad Man" Killed by Explosion.

Word was received by the sheriff's office yesterday of the killing at Spokane, Wash., of John Bailey, alias Eli Orcutt, alias Bill Wilson, a desperado of a shooting episode at Palmer Lake two years ago. [illegible] was brought to this city in charge of the sheriff's office. This occurred on December 23, 1905, when Bailey, together with four other tramps, entered the D. & R. G. eating house at Palmer Lake. After the men had paid their bill one of them had an altercation with J. E. Judd, the proprietor, and drew a gun on him. Bailey stepped in between the two and received the bullet in the back of the neck. He was brought to this city in a critical condition, but recovered at St. Francis hospital.

In Washington he was held in the sum of $[illegible] for trial. On November 20, 15 sticks of dynamite were stolen from the city barns, and on November 21, while footpads were in search for the purpose of setting the fuse for accidentally the dynamite exploded, killing Graham and injuring his two companions.

VICTIMIZES MERCHANTS

A. E. Hardy Passes Worthless Paper on J. E. Weir and A. J. Boland.

A. E. Hardy, supposed by the police to be a professional crook, has secured a winter's supply of clothes at the expense of Colorado Springs merchants, who have received in exchange a couple of worthless checks.

Before leaving the city last Saturday he victimized the Weir Toggery shop and A. J. Boland, a tailor. Hardy had been here several weeks and after making occasional purchases at the Toggery shop, paying with cash, on last Saturday he purchased merchandise to the value of $46, paying with a draft for $60 on a Philadelphia bank. Word was received from this bank yesterday that the draft was worthless.

Hardy also secured a suit of clothes from A. J. Boland, paying him in paper which has since been found to be worthless.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1907.

WILL THEY COME BACK?

THE strike of 1903 at Cripple Creek had never been officially called off until this week. For more than three years no Federation man could work in that camp without disobeying the law of his union. Some of them have worked there, and the bosses of the Federation say openly that they have winked at it; but so far as is known, the organization has not been broken. Certainly it has made no attempt to renew its grip on the district and control it in the old way.

The object of calling off the strike now is frankly avowed by Haywood and others—it is to enable their men to get work. Haywood will not acknowledge yet that he expects many men to come from the Nevada camps, but evidently he and the other leaders are preparing for just such an event. Driven out of Idaho, driven out of Colorado, and now driven out of Nevada, the Federation has little territory left where it can count itself supreme. If the gold mine of contributions from sympathizers is to be successfully worked in the future, the Federation must have a "position" some place where it can show that it is still actually in existence. For, half a dozen years or more, Haywood and Moyer have had about the finest opportunity for graft in America. They have managed to keep in trouble all the time, and money has poured in upon them from all quarters. When Walter Wellman was out here four years ago, he was astounded at the financial side of the strike, and openly charged Haywood and Moyer with having made way with large sums of money. They have had no accounting to make—have apparently used the money entirely as they pleased; and nobody knows how much of it there has been and still is. It has been practically a secret service fund.

Well, the miners may come back to Cripple Creek if they choose; but nobody wants the Federation back. We have had a beautiful peaceful time for three years, and we don't want any trouble; and we know that if the Federation comes in again, trouble there will certainly be. But the mine owners may as well take notice that an effort will undoubtedly be made to "unionize" the district once more, either openly, or as is more probable, secretly. Moyer has given some indications that he would be willing to quit; but Haywood is young and active and ambitious; he was acquitted—on a technicality, to be sure, but still acquitted—of the murder of Steunenberg; and he is quite capable of starting another war in Colorado if he gets the chance. The safer way is not to let him get the chance.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

TODAY, it is expected, the Democratic national committee will decide upon the place of meeting of their next national convention. The Denver boosters are still in attendance, putting up a bold front, but we don't imagine they really expect to be successful. Louisville wants the convention, and that is the most central place possible. The only question is whether it has the hotel facilities. If it can prove that it has, the convention is likely to go there; if not, it may go to Chicago, or even possibly to St. Paul.

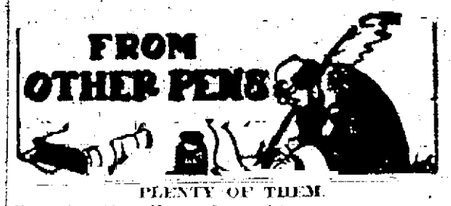
Delegates to a national convention are elected on the basis of population. The center of population of the United States is in Southern Indiana, between Louisville and Indianapolis, and not far from Chicago. Somewhere in that neighborhood, then, between St. Louis and Pittsburg, north to the lakes and south to the Ohio river, is the natural place for such a gathering. This year, it is announced, the delegates will have to pay full fare; so more than ever it is a time when the convention should be held in a central place.

Denver has got some advertising out of the search for the conventions, and maybe that is enough to pay for what has been expended. Many people have the idea that Denver now has "the finest auditorium in the west, capable of seating fourteen thousand people." Perhaps it is lucky that Denver was not put to the test. The readiness of that auditorium by next June is something one may well be skeptical about; and that hundred thousand dollars would be money lavishly and foolishly spent.

Governor Buchtel has thought it worthy of a proclamation all to itself to try to prevent the wholesale destruction of young trees at the holiday season. He is right. For years we have done what we could to prevent such wholesale destruction in this neighborhood, and the idea has spread all about the state. The waste formerly was appalling enormous. Every man who so chose felt as if he had a right to go anywhere on the land and cut as many trees as he wanted and carry them off and sell them for Christmas trees. [illegible] of thoughtless people believed that [illegible] by the trees cut were the finest and most beautiful of their kind, and all young ones; so that if the new generation is not as fine as it might be, [illegible] the Governor's proclamation. [illegible] enough to prevent the wholesale destruction of young trees at the holiday season. [illegible] that there will be a [illegible]

Of course the lands owned by the state are the only ones over which the Governor has direct jurisdiction; but his proclamation ought to do much good aside from its effect on the state lands. It should call the attention of all citizens to the abuse, and incite them all to do what they can to discourage it and eventually put an end to it.

The election of a Republican mayor in Boston is an extraordinary event. For many years it has been a Democratic stronghold. It probably contains a larger proportion of foreign-born voters than any other town east of Chicago; and "Honey John" Fitzgerald has been making himself solid with the element since he was a boy. The probable reason for his failure this time was the discovery made by some of his constituents that there weren't enough jobs after election to fulfill the promises made before it. Fitzgerald had built up one of the most complete machines of the Tammany type ever seen anywhere. It had all sorts of auxiliaries—rowing clubs, social clubs, military companies, athletic clubs, musical clubs, everything you can think of. John was a genius for organization, and he has kissed the blarney stone. It has carried him far, but he has come to the end of his tether as a public servant at last—that is, perhaps he has; he may come back next time.



PLENTY OF THEM.

From the New Haven Journal.

Briarwood is becoming very scarce, but briarwood pipes are not.

BRYAN'S RECEPTION.

From the Philadelphia Record.

It is reported that the unavoidable William J. Bryan met with a warm reception on his appearance in the House at the opening of Congress Monday. But by all accounts the reception savored less of enthusiasm on the part of the Democratic members than of a Christian spirit of resignation.

LEADERS IN CONGRESS.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

In the midst of the partizanship disputes and highly colored accusations which are stimulated by the opening of a new Congress there is a comfort to the average American in looking at the obviously high quality of merit shown by the men at the head of legislative affairs in Washington. If we judge them by the standards of living human beings, instead of by some ideal set up by the panegyrists of the past, it is reassuringly apparent that the American people have at small salary cost the benefit of extraordinary fitness for the task of government.

TOO MUCH FOR HUMAN ENDURANCE.

From the New York Times.

But one morning newspaper in the city of New York printed President Roosevelt's message in full. It has been the immemorial practice of New York newspapers, with, in recent years, three exceptions, we believe, to print Presidents' messages without abridgment.

What does it mean? It means, first of all, that the message was too long. The President used 30,000 words of our good English speech in making his recommendations to Congress. To print the document would have occupied four pages of newspaper space. The managers of the New York newspapers thought that one page was about all that they and their readers could stand. Their decision was no doubt wise and sensible. Only a very small fraction of 1 per cent of the newspaper-reading public would have had the time or the patience to read the message from beginning to end. It was too long.

POSTOFFICE IMPROVEMENTS.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Business efficiency is the keynote of this year's report from the postmaster general. Postal savings banks and a parcels post have a seeming of innovation, but they are only an extension of promptness of serving efficiently the transportation requirements of the common people. Packages in vast numbers are already sent through the mails, and the postoffices are used daily in the money transactions of small savers.

All government is a business and efficiency is a desideratum, but many of its functions touch affairs of debate and political differences of opinion. The postoffice does not. It is a business, pure and simple. There is no justification whatever for impeding its operations with politics. The collection, transportation and distribution of messages was the original object of its establishment. Suggestions of public convenience led to the addition of packages and of money in small sums. It is right that the head of the department should consider efficiency in all his recommendations.

CHARGING CURRENTS.

From Collier's Weekly.

A rapid ebb from Secretary Taft contrasts with a corresponding gain for Mr. Hughes. Once the thoughts of Judge Taft were centered on the welfare of a dependent people. The wishes of the President, of one brother and of another person near to him, made a candidate of the judge against his will, and lamentable has been the end. Two years ago William H. Taft struck out boldly for independence in his state. With the courage of freedom he threw down the gauntlet to Boss Cox. This year, his agent in Ohio, his brother Charles, secured the support of Cox for the Secretary's candidacy, and in return came up energetically with his newspaper for the Cox machine, and waged a scurrilous campaign against the independent ticket. The Hon. Nicholas Longworth represented the administration in this deal, and for that also the Secretary must stand responsible. A year and a half ago, Judge Taft declared in writing that "the conduct of municipal affairs has no natural relation to the conduct of national affairs." A few months passed unhappy months for the standards of our friend and the man of worthy past appealed to Republicans everywhere to look at the Cleveland municipal campaign from the standpoint of entrenching national party power. The citizens of Cleveland answered him, and the rapid weakening of the Taft candidacy suggests that it has but a little while to live.

AN INCONSIDERATE UPRISING.

From the New York Times.

There is a noticeable uprising, we had almost called it a conspiracy, against the professional manufacturers and purveyors of current humor. The charge is that they cling too tenaciously to outworn subjects. The mother-in-law, commuter, Fairbanks, Teddy Bear, and Hobson jokes, for instance, are declared to be decrepit and beyond the Statute of Limitations.

The self-appointed judges of the humorists are arguing against facts. So long as there are domineering mothers-in-law and patiently suffering commuters, exploits of the ancient jokes about them will prevail. So long as Mr. Fairbanks and Mr. Hobson—but it is useless to bark into a vacuum. The point is that the jokes never lose their point until the objects of their keen satire disappear.

We read in papers this very week of a cosmopolitan [illegible] who was fooled in the smoking room of an ocean liner by marked cards—the most ancient and familiar of swindling devices, but still profitably employed. The trade of the jester is to shoot fools as it flies, fully clothes to old forms. Humanity will not [illegible] its wisdom.

[illegible] will tell you that a production of a [illegible] on the [illegible] would meet [illegible] in the audience and a crowded engagement. When we are all [illegible] enough to learn wisdom by reading [illegible] there will be a [illegible]

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S RECOMMENDATIONS ON ART.

President Roosevelt has always shown a keen appreciation of the place which the fine arts should hold in a well-balanced and highly civilized country, and his strong recommendation for the removal of the duty on works of art expressed in his recent message to Congress does not come as a surprise.

His active interest in the movement to make Washington the most beautiful city in the world, his efforts for the establishment of a National Gallery of Art, and his numerous endeavors to stimulate interest in art had already served to indicate what his position would be on this important educational question. Nothing in his message will meet with more unanimous approval. Artists, college presidents, art museum directors, professional and business men from every state of the Union will applaud this enlightened recommendation.

The workingmen of Europe are made familiar with the masterpieces of art from their childhood, and this art influence creates a refined taste and an artistic touch in the most humble artisan which have owe their success to this artistic sense so assiduously cultivated by their governments.

The President realizes the necessity of surrounding our own people with the best art of all ages in order that this artistic sense may be cultivated in this country, which is at a distinct disadvantage in this respect as compared with the countries of the Old World, because it has not received an art heritage from the past.

He says: So far from there being a tariff on works of art brought into the country, their importation should be encouraged in every way.

It is now Congress's turn to act, and it is to be hoped that Speaker Cannon, the members of the Ways and Means committee, and other influential congressmen and senators, will take up the free art bill and pass it at once. It can be done without precipitating a general tariff discussion, and there is no excuse for further delay.

Today's Horoscope

Thursday, December 12, 1907.

Lay not the morning in the palms of chance,
Veiled by new roads before the searcher's glance.

This is the 346th day of the year, mean seven days till.

Be careful with locks and bolts this day. Take pains to see that safes, vaults and cash boxes are locked and that keys are well bestowed.

For all undertakings, whether business or social, this is but a doubtful and uncertain day. Over all things and on all roads lies perplexity as to issue. Hazard naught and ponder well even over accustomed tasks and ventures.

Set a calm purpose against petty vexations with which this day will be rife.

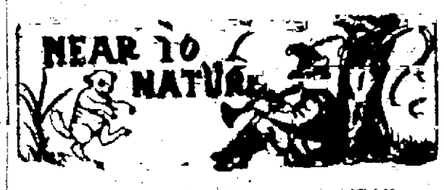
A good day for hiring male.

The woman whose birthday this is will have an experience this twelvemonth that will result in expanding her horizon immeasurably and lead her to a place of honor. The unmarried will be courted.

The man whose birthdate this is must beware subtlety of speech. If in doubt he must devote all his mind to his duties. A hidden opportunity awaits.

The girl born this day will be inclined to great carelessness in selecting her company. Guard her against this danger, and she will marry fortunately.

The boy born today must learn early in life to be content and patient. A long struggle lies before him ere he reaches the prosperity that is provided.



SIDE OPENING FOR THE CHURCH.

From the Manganese (Colo.) Sun.

Why doesn't some minister try locking the front door of his church on Sunday morning, after sending word to the men members that they can get in by slipping around the back way, crossing the alley and sneaking through the side entrance when no one is looking? It ought to get a full house to hear the sermon.

EDITOR THROWS A BLUFF.

Spokane Spokesman-Review.

After all walking up to the cashier's wickered window every Saturday night and receiving a pay envelope for six days' nerve-racking, strenuous work and going home to a little cottage where a waiting wife and a few children make any old shack a home, is better than living in a palace and having a lot of courtiers standing around to open the doors and hand out gold doubloons by the fistful.

SCRAP FOR SCULPTOR.

Washington Post.

They are quarreling in Tennessee as to whether Major General Andy Jackson shall have a place in Statuary hall. Need we add that our excellent friend John Wesley Gaines is fighting for Old Hickory like the ring-tailed monkey from the Tuscalosa grappled with the alligator.

"He fought and he fought his belly dragged the ground,
And curled his tail and fought another round."

From the Lake City (Colo.) Times.

Miss Phillips, the swell cook at the Occidental hotel, left for her home at Spruce Pine, N. C. We regret very much to see Miss Philips leave Lake City, but she has been away from her home for two years and we know the way she must have felt. All her friends here, and there are quite a host of them, wish her well and hope she will return to us again. Mr. Frank Swank accompanied her as far as Salineria on the train, she has left, we do not doubt, quite a few broken or fractured hearts in town.

AUDIENCE STRIKES AFTER THE SHOW.

Big Bend (Wash.) Empire.

The "Black Nightingale" company appeared at the Waterville theater Saturday night last. There was a large audience present, we are told, but after the show started they began to leave by ones and twos. Sometime after the show was over and the colored people had secured an oyster stew, a volley of rotten eggs struck them as they came upon the street. While we do not approve of anything of this kind, we believe that some steps should be taken in every town to guard against being imposed upon by travelling shows of this kind.

A THEATRICAL LEMON.

From the La Junta (Colo.) Tribune.

The famous Ginsa Farce Comedy company pulled into town Wednesday morning and in the evening gave an "exhibition" in the opera house. The aggregation was greeted by a large audience and fully lived up to the "farce" part of the program, as it was the worst "bunch" that has been handed to Swink in the theatrical line since the town was founded. They left the same evening on the 10 o'clock train for points east, and while awaiting the arrival of the passenger took occasion to roast the town and the opera house—all same as some large companies do in other towns when they get the chance. The manager, who tried to look like a tragedian, reminded one of the pictures seen in the comic Sunday supplements. He said he would never play this burg again, no never, and Swink restaurant earnestly hope he never will. On the whole it was the worst aggregation we ever saw, and if the guy who told them that they could "entertain" in ever found in this vicinity, he is liable to be presented with a hemp necktie and a wooden overcoat free or charge.

DARINGER IS SET FREE

Charge of Embezzlement Against Agent Settled Out of Court.

A. M. Daringer, who was arrested in Pueblo Tuesday and brought to this city on the charge of having embezzled funds from the Globe Express company, was yesterday released from jail by the police, the case having been settled out of court, and the express company refusing to prosecute him. Daringer was until recently the agent for the company at the D. & R. G. depot, but when he left his position, last Thursday, he failed to turn in $150 obtained by the sale of express money orders. He was arrested in Pueblo Tuesday, upon request of the local police department.

Societies and Clubs

"How Tariff Builds Private Fortunes" was the subject of the paper presented by Mrs. Thomas P. Chase, yesterday afternoon during a regular meeting of the social science department of the Woman's club, in the San Luis school building. Several of the members of the club participated in the discussion following the delivery of the paper.

Guest day will be observed by the Woman's Literary club on Saturday at 2 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. Ira J. Morse, 504 North Nevada avenue, instead of with Mrs. Holden, as announced in the year book. Miss Flansburg will lecture and there will be music by Mrs. Taliaferro and others.

On New Years eve a dance will be given at the Alamo hotel from 9 o'clock p. m. until 1 a. m. complimentary to the football elevens of the High School and Colorado College. The affair will be strictly an invitational one. The Alamo orchestra will supply the dance music.

Mrs. Van Stoog's district of the First Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. W. L. Lucas, 1304 North Weber street, this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Sharp's district of the First Presbyterian church will meet at her residence, 1809 North Nevada avenue, this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The regular meeting of the Hillside Improvement society will be held in Hillside chapel, this evening. All interested in the dump question are urged to be present. Mayor Heizer will address the meeting.

Colorado Springs Federated Trades council will give a smoker and open meeting this evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Miss Anna Briggs and Mrs. W. W. Price will give a concert in Grywild Presbyterian chapel tomorrow evening. The public is invited.

Mrs. B. Hull, at 415 East Kiowa street, will entertain Section 2 of the Ladies' Aid society of the First M. E. church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Annual reports will be read. All the ladies of the church are invited to attend.

Section 4 of the First Congregational church will meet with Mrs. Dick, 714 South Nevada avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the election of officers. A program will be given.

MISS IDA LEWIS STILL LIVES.

Although she is now 68 years old, Miss Ida Lewis, whose fame as a lifesaver once filled the land, is still active in body and mind. She is credited with having saved in all eighteen lives, and she has received many honors because of her heroism. Her daring rescues were made in rowboats and in all of persons who were in danger of drowning in the waters near Newport, R. I. She has lived for fifty years in the Lime Rock lighthouse off Newport harbor, N. Y. for taking care of the beacon.

STRIKE ON ANNA LEE

VALUES IN RICH STREAK RUN UP TO $1 A POUND.

Find on Minor Hill Is Attracting Considerable Attention—Four-Foot Vein Encountered.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. [illegible]—A strike of considerable moment, and especially because of its location, is attracting the attention of mining men generally in this city. Messrs. Britton Brothers several months ago took a lease on the Anna Lee claim on the south slope of Minnie hill. Immediately north of the Pinnacle [illegible] [illegible] at the 200-foot level, the Brittons started a winze which has now been sunk about [illegible] feet from the level. At this point they have opened up a vein which is four feet wide, and in which is a streak varying from [illegible] to five inches, which gives fabulous values, running as high as $[illegible] to nine ounces of $1 per pound. The high grade streak shows a sparkling [illegible] with specimens of pure gold. The balance of the vein will probably give values varying from $[illegible] to $[illegible] per ton. The vein has an east and west trend, crosscuts now being started preparatory to a [illegible] drift, but the principal amount of labor being done is to develop and open up the shoot already found. It is expected that about January 1 these lessees will begin to make regular shipments.

During the early days Minnie hill was a prolific spot for prospectors, and in the placer considerable gold was taken out. However the lode deposits, or mother lode, was never found. Farther to the north and west is Copper mountain, and Dr. H. Moffat, on the Floraine claim, which is only a short distance away, took out several hundred thousand dollars from the surface. Mr. Moffat's men literally dangled up the ground and secured the ore. There have been thousands of dollars spent in mining and in sinking Minnie hill, with generally poor results for the dollars. The general opinion at the present time is that the Brittons have undoubtedly found the southern extension of Copper mountain, as well as the rich gold vein in the claims immediately west of the Anna Lee. This new strike will likely stimulate efforts to begin mining operations in the vicinity of Minnie hill, for this will be a special [illegible] and should be the source of pride to the city that has produced the [illegible] of the Well Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value, a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along official lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

[illegible] Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

GIVEN UP TO DIE.

B. Bridgel, 1304 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. I lost flesh and was all run down and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good. I was [illegible] Finally I took Foley Kidney Pills and the second bottle started to improve my health. I am now in good health and can do my work easily. Foley Kidney Pills will do all we claim."

CHRISTMAS CUSTOMS OF MEXICO

There is a very decided strain of the Irish blood in Gaelic in the Mexican and with it he has inherited the romantic customs of the Irish. Spain and have colored many a romantic and picturesque practices to a nicety in his character.

Your Mexican friend may meet you a dozen times a day but he will shake hands every time, both at meeting and parting and if he has not seen you for several days he will embrace you and put you on the back as the cast many salute between friends in Mexico—and when he arises at your office he will take off his hat and hold it in his hand until you request him to replace it—which he will very quickly do if you do so. If you call on him at his house and he is not there you are to proceed [illegible] pose to go but he will proceed you in departing. When you are introduced to the Mexican he expresses his pleasure at the [illegible] you announce himself as at your service gives the number and [illegible] residence with the information that the house is yours of which [illegible]. Now you know where you are and the invitation to take [illegible] possession is very cordial—if you infer hitherto [illegible] anything that is his [illegible] immediately present it to you.

The street passing on the street is Adios instead of How do you do but times have changed and business is business. Adios noches are frequently used in the plural during the afternoon and nights and [illegible] seventh [illegible] The best of the sidewalk is to the wall and insisted [illegible] and courtesy is Mexican always allows his companion to precede him and with a persistent Pase Si not pase wait for you to pass in.

Mexico and its people afford great opportunities for pleasure and profitable study for the tourist that may visit this section of the North American continent. It is truly the Egypt of the New World.

Don't Talk Hard Times

GOOD OR BAD TIMES DEPEND LARGELY UPON CONFIDENCE OR LACK OF IT

That Confidence is justified is indicated by Government statistics.

130 millions was the balance in our favor during 1906 in the increase of exports over imports. Our exports in 1907 exceeded those of 1906 by 136 millions.

The National debt in 1907 was 86 millions less than that of the previous year, being a reduction of $1.20 per capita.

In the production of cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, coal, petroleum, pig iron, steel, copper and silver the United States led the world.

Can anything short of an earthquake or a six months' drought destroy our mines or kill our crops.

Our prosperity must continue to flow from our natural resources. No man or men can check it.

DON'T BE A PESSIMIST. SEE, BELIEVE AND TALK THE HOPEFUL VIEW.
